Rush Florists Donate Time, Talent to Benefit Children

On Thursday, March 19, floral designers Shirley Kabara and Hank Watt of Rush Florist (Romulus) were among several Area designers invited by Bill Schodowski, Senior Field Service Representative for Florists' Transworld Delivery (FTD) Association, to create floral arrangements "on the spot" for an FTD auction held at Cobo Hall during the nine-day (March 14 – March 22) International Builders Home, Flower, and Furniture Show. The money raised during the week's auction – approximately $2,000 – was donated to the Children's Miracle Network. Participation in the benefit auction was a first-time experience for Shirley, but Hank is a veteran of several such fund raisers. All flowers and greenery used in the auctioned arrangements were donated by FTD. (photos by Tom Anderson)

Residents Urged to Support Alternative Funding for Romulus Fire Department

By Dorothy Nesler

On Monday, March 9, 1992, Chief William Greenslait of the Romulus Fire Department went before the Romulus City Council to ask for its authorization for and support of an alternative method of funding the department. Such funding would enable the department to maintain its current level of service to the community in the face of proposed budget cuts.

Greenslait asked the Council to authorize Romulus firefighters to approach those Romulus residents registered to vote, and ask them to sign a petition in support of putting a proposal for a two-mill Fire Department fund on the ballot in a future election. Support for Greenslait's proposal was granted by the Council.

Councilman Russell Lambert volunteered to act as liaison between the Council and City firefighters.

Greenslait also met with the Police and Fire Safety Commission on Wednesday, March 17, and gained their support of the proposed petition drive as well.

The City attorney will draft the language of the petition. After the approval of the State Attorney General, and with the authorization of Governor John Engler, it is hoped that the proposed millage levy will be placed on the November 1992 ballot.

The Romulus News is in full support of this endeavor by our resident City firefighters.

The Romulus Fire Department recently received a grant allotment of 500 smoke detectors from the National Association of State Fire Marshals. These smoke detectors are to be installed in the homes of low-income families with young children or the homes of elderly persons who do not already have a smoke detector. Further details regarding the City-wide distribution of these fire detectors will be published in "the little paper" in the near future.

Congratulations to City Fire Marshal David Allison, who has successfully completed eight weeks of special training at the Michigan State Police Academy in Lansing. He is now a Certified State Fire Inspector. Welcome home, Dave!

Fire Safety Tip for the month of March: Smoke is silent. You can't hear it, you can't feel it, and because your sense of smell goes to sleep when you do, it may not wake you up.

"Tornado Safety Week" Brings Tests, Safety Classes

Thanks to Margaret Leduc for submitting the following information

During this year's Tornado Safety Week (March 30 – April 5), the City will be conducting a siren test on Wednesday, April 1, at 10 a.m., and on Saturday, April 4, at 1 p.m. Also on Wednesday, the City will conduct a test on our cable system for the emergency broadcast system. At this time, all Romulus televisions that are hooked up to cable will switch, for 15 seconds, to the government station for an emergency testing message. This will be a test only. In an actual emergency, the government station will have a message indicating what citizens should do.

On Wednesday, April 1, a free Tornado Safety Class will be held at Fire Station #4 (28777 Eureka east of Middle Belt) at 7 p.m. Learn the difference between a "tornado watch" and a "tornado warning." Learn what to look for and what to do to prepare yourself for a tornado.

Any questions may be directed to Margaret Leduc at the Emergency Management Office (941-8585). □

Some Sort of Miracle

By Tom Shamanski

"I can't fall asleep, Dad. I think my circadian rhythm is all messed up," sighed Meredith, my seven-year-old daughter.

"Huh? Circadian rhythm? What's that? Does it have anything to do with 'dirty dancing'? ... Because if it does, Meredith, you're in deep ... ah, deep ... ah ..." I was stammering, grasping for an easy way out. I could see how talking about dirty dancing could logically progress into a first discussion about the facts of life ... "The Talk" ... the birds and the bees ... a thing called love ... Oh Lord, let's talk about desserts, instead, okay?

Thankfully, "The Talk" was postponed when Meredith cut me off, saying, "No. ... No, Dad, no dirty dancing. A 'circadian rhythm' is our body's natural sleep rhythm. When we go to sleep and wake up at the same time each day, our circadian rhythm is performing at its optimum level. But on weekends, most of us tend to stay up late at night and sleep late in the morning, consequently messing up our circadian rhythms."

My totally deflated self could only nod ... and nod. Several minutes later, finally able to speak, I asked, "So, would you like me to read you a Mickey Mouse Golden Book?"

It was a Sunday night and my first real rough spot in a week where my Weekend Daddy duties were dramatically expanded to full-time, 24 hours a day: get the kids off to school, and, if one of them forget his/her lunch money, race the money to school so the kid can drink chocolate milk and eat sour-cream potato chips, and so the entire teaching staff will think you're merely mentally slow and not simply stupid ... (Hi, I'm Mr. Shamanski, and ... "YES, YOU FORGOT TO GIVE JOE HIS LUNCH MONEY. NOW, ALL THE STAFF KNOWS!")

* * *

This "Total Dad" week came about because the children's mom wished to spend some time with out-of-state relatives. Sure, I said, I'd be glad to house-sit and mind the kids for a week. Ahh, you will be back in a week, right? ... No, I'm not nervous.

* * *

The early-week weather was cold, rainy, and yucky, so Joe, age five, and Meredith were unable to play outside until after school on Wednesday. Then, I didn't see them for three hours except for an occasional tiny head popping through the door and yelling, "Are we going to McDonald's for dinner again, Dad? Huh? When?"

Suddenly, though, the kids were in the house at the same time, seemingly taking a break from yelling and screaming, clapping and bopping, and other spontaneous terrorist activities. Was this some sort of a miracle? Were these kids actually coming home because they felt over-tired?

I was about to heap humps of praise on the little tykes, when Meredith, moving quicker than Grandma waiting on Joe, shot out the door, crying, "YES! I'm going to play with Tiffany and her electric car. ... YES!" SLAM went the door as I swallowed her hump of praise.

Soon, I noticed Joe staring at the closed door. Slowly, a wicked little grin spread across his face, and, quietly, he said, "Tiffany's in for the day, Meredith. We just played in her 'lectric car." Then he looked up at me and we giggled a bit, just a couple of brothers enjoying a little joke on a pesky sister.

Well, I'd love to tell you more, but it's time for the kids and me to make our after-school shopping run. We've only limited time - no, no video tonight - and we've got to get chips from ... where, Meredith, where's a good place to get chips? ... Well, maybe one video, if you're both good. ... The 7-Eleven? ... Sure, and I guess we need pop, too, right? ... Sit down, Joe, and give me that sword; where did you get a sword? ... I don't know, how much are the videos? ... Do I turn here, Meredith? ... And so why did Bradley want to kiss you? KISS YOU??!! ... All right, one video, but that's it. ... Joe, if you hit my ear with that glove again, you'll be in deep trouble, young man! ... Don't tell Mom the baby-sitter's WHAT??!! ☐

Zaborowski Seeks Reelection

Judge Henry Zaborowski has announced his candidacy for reelection to the 34th District Court, located in Romulus. The jurisdiction of the court encompasses the cities of Belleville and Romulus as well as the townships of Huron, Sumpter, and Van Buren.

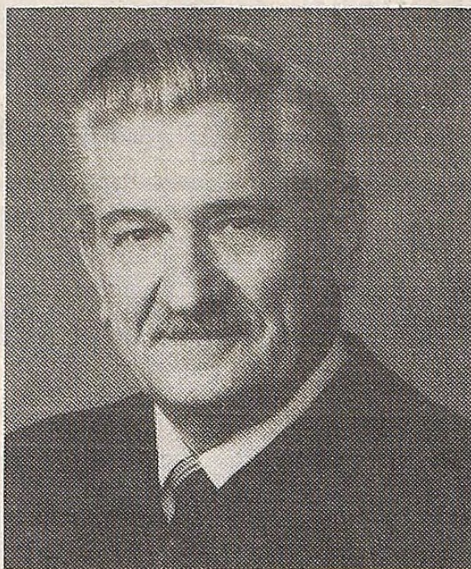

In conjunction with that announcement, a campaign organizational meeting was held at the Romulus VFW Hall on February 29. The meeting was attended by a large number of Zaborowski's supporters representing each of the five communities covered by the Court.

A "spaghetti dinner" fund raiser has been planned for April 8, 1992, at the Polish National Alliance (PNA) Hall in Sumpter Township. Tickets are $10 per person and are available in advance (call Clema Pond, 697-1491) or at the door.

Zaborowski, a 51-year resident of Van Buren Township, attended Belleville High School. Additionally, he is a graduate of the Detroit Institute of Technology from which he received a Bachelor of Business Administration and Law degree, cum laude. He obtained his legal training from the Detroit College of Law, which he attended on a scholarship, ultimately earning a Bachelor of Law and Juris Doctor degree. Advanced professional education has come from the Comparative Judicial Study at Michigan State University, the Institute of Criminology at Cambridge University and British Academy of Forensic Sciences in England, and the National College of the State Judiciary at the University of Nevada.

He is a former president of the Great Lakes Steel local union and served on the International Wage Policy Committee. As a practicing attorney, he was Township Attorney for Sumpter Township and the Romulus Board of Education.

As an attorney and judge, Zaborowski is a member of the Suburban Bar Association, Michigan Bar Association, Florida Bar Association, and the American Judicature Society. He is admitted to practice in all state courts in Michigan, including the Michigan Supreme Court, as well as the court of the State of Florida, the Supreme Court of the United States, and Federal District Court. He is a former member of the Panel of Arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association.

Zaborowski is a veteran of the U.S. Army and a member of the VFW, Polish League of American Veterans, PNA, and U.S. Power Squadron. He is also a Mason and Shriner. He is married to the former Patricia Ann Wilson and has three children.

Zaborowski has served as a district court judge for 18 years, being first elected to the bench in 1974. During his tenure, Zaborowski has been instrumental in many innovations to the court. These include the recent court expansion as well as the addition of a third judgeship to the 34th District Court. In addition, mediation of all cases prior to trial has been implemented, lessening substantially the time in which cases are resolved. □

Financial Planning

Look Before You Leap

By Timothy R. Rosiak, Certified Financial Planner

In my last article, I told you about helping a client earn a higher interest rate than what bank CDs were offering by simply repositioning some of her assets into mutual funds. Mutual funds, whether they are growth, income, tax-free, or any combination, pool your money and purchase high-quality stocks and bonds to help increase your return.

I, as a certified financial planner, know what to look for in a mutual fund. Do you? These next items may help you compare one mutual fund with another.

Investment Objective

Whether you are looking for long-term growth, income, or a tax-free return, this will be stated here. This is where you want to make sure that your objectives match those of the fund's investment objective.

Investment Risk

In this section, you can find out how the fund manages the risks associated with its investments. We would evaluate whether the fund is too risky or too cautious to meet your investment objective.

Past Performance

Being that no one can accurately predict the future, we have to rely on past performance to help project what the fund may do in the future. It is important to look not only at how well the fund has done in the past year, but also at how well it did three years, five years, and even 10 years before, if possible.

Portfolio Turnover Rate

This reveals how actively the portfolio has been traded and what percentage of the fund's portfolio has been replaced over a given year.

Shareholder Services

Does the fund offer such services as check-writing, exchange privileges, systematic withdrawal plans, and automatic withdrawal plans?

Is that all there is to look for? Not quite. There is a wealth of information located in the prospectus, including a listing of fees and expenses that are associated with the mutual fund.

In today's times of low interest rates, people are wondering what choices they have other than standard savings, checking, and CD accounts. There are options!

If you would like some information mailed to you regarding mutual funds and ways to receive a higher interest rate, call (313) 347-3437 and ask for Tim Rosiak in the Financial Planning Department at the Mutual of Omaha Companies. I am always willing to talk to my readers regarding their financial concerns. □

HOSA Urges Precautions Against Infectious Disease

By Felicia George and April Krey

"Health Occupations" students at Romulus High School encourage the community to take precautions against infectious disease.

During the week of March 23 to March 27, the members of HOSA (Health Occupation Students of America) Chapter #2 will participate in Infection Control Week in Romulus. During infection control week, the chapter will emphasize infections in the school and workplace, and within our community. Our goal is to raise the community's awareness about infectious diseases such as colds, flu, hepatitis, tuberculosis, and bacterial food poisoning that continue to plague our community. Recent news reports remind us of the reoccurrence of communicable diseases that are not resistant to treatment.

The chapter has presented information on universal precautions in the school to High School and Junior High staff. On March 18, staff from these buildings received "universal precaution kits" for classroom use. Student presenters shared the results of a student health behavior survey (also called a universal precaution survey) conducted during National HOSA week in February. In addition, they shared information gained when they conducted a germ search in the High School with the help of Sue Falzone from the Federated Medical Lab, located in Southgate.

The purpose of infection control week is to encourage people to cover their coughs and sneezes, to use paper tissues instead of cloth handkerchiefs, and — most importantly — to wash their hands frequently. □

The Traffic Stop

By Office Rick Schwartz, Romulus Police Department

Even though the weather doesn't look like spring, the calendar says that it has arrived. With spring comes bicyclists, and we, as motorists, must be aware of the potential dangers that are always presented by bikers, whether they are older, experienced people or young first-timers. We must also be aware of the laws that govern bicyclists on the roadways so that bicycles and motor vehicles can share the roadway safely and efficiently. The laws that govern bicyclists come from the Michigan Motor Vehicle Code, the very same code that governs motorists.

Here are a few reminders for us all.

- Bicyclists are prohibited on limited-access highways (I-94 and I-275).
- Bicyclists must obey the instructions of official traffic-control signals, signs, and other control devices applicable to vehicles, unless otherwise directed by a police officer.
- Bicyclists must obey signs indicating that right, left, or U-turns are prohibited by dismounting and making such movements as governed by pedestrian laws.
- Bicyclists must propel their bicycle astride a permanent and regular seat attached to the bicycle, and must not ride passengers unless the bicycle is designed to carry a passenger.
- Bicyclists shall ride as near to the right-hand side of the roadway as practicable and shall exercise due care when passing a standing vehicle or a vehicle proceeding in the same direction.
- Bicyclists shall not pass between lines of traffic, but may pass in an unoccupied lane on the left of traffic moving in his/her direction in the case of a two-way street and on the left or right of traffic in the case of a one-way street.
- Bicyclists shall not ride more than two abreast.
- When a usable path for bicyclists has been provided adjacent to a roadway, bicyclists shall use such paths and not the roadway.

- Bicyclists shall not operate a bicycle at a speed greater than is reasonable and prudent under the conditions which exist.
- Bicyclists shall yield the right-of-way whenever emerging from alleys and driveways.
- Bicyclists shall keep both hands on the handlebars at all times.
- Bicyclists shall not park bicycles on sidewalks if such action would obstruct pedestrians.
- Bicyclists operating on sidewalks must yield the right-of-way to pedestrians and give an audible signal before overtaking and passing.
- Bicycles used at nighttime shall be equipped with a headlamp and a red rear reflector. A red rear reflector is still required even if the bicycle is equipped with a red rear light.
- Bicycles must be equipped with warning bells.
- Bicycles must be equipped with brakes.

The purpose behind all of these rules is SAFETY. If you violate any of these laws, you are subject to traffic citations just as motorists are.

In 1991, three bicyclists were killed in Romulus. Two died as a result of violating bicycle laws; the third was killed by a reckless driver.

Please have a SAFE summer of bicycling. □

A Point of Law

By Murray A. Duncan, Jr., attorney
A Warranty Deed is a deed conveying land whereby the grantor (seller) assures the title to property by an express promise to that effect in the deed.

A Quit Claim Deed is a conveyance of land that is intended to pass any title, interest, or claim which the grantor may have in the land. A Quit Claim Deed gives no warranty as to the title. For example, a person could give a Quit Claim Deed to property that he/she doesn't own.

A Quit Claim Deed does not guarantee title. A Warranty Deed guarantees title to the land.

Here's How To Catch Mr. Big-eye!

By Captain Ron Dubsky, Ice Breaker II Sport-fishing Charters (941-3529)

By the time you read this article, I should have my walleye for 1992 cleaned and in the freezer! April is my favorite time to catch Mr. Big-eye. The truth is, April is the only month that Yours Truly catches fish for his own freezer! My charters begin May 1, and I don't put anymore fish in my freezer until September.

The tackle that I use is a five-foot, light-action rod, a spinning reel with eight-pound test, and a one-half-ounce to three-eighths-ounce lead-head jig with a Mister Twister. Also, I tip the jig with a minnow and attach a stinger hook (a very small treble hook) to the jig. Colors: chartreuse or white. Location: the Detroit River in plain view of the Ambassador Bridge. (Take Outer Drive to West Jefferson; go north into River Rouge; locate the industrial park on the east side; go into the park to Belanger Drive and follow this to the River. You will find ample parking and a pretty good launch site.)

Start fishing right outside the launch area. The current will push your drift south past Great Lakes Steel. When you pass the marina, start your boat, head back to the launch site, and start your drift again. I have had very good luck just inside the large piling by the warm-water outlet just south of the launch. Concentrate heavily in this area. I have taken steelhead from this area. You will be fishing in 10 to 20 feet of clear water; let the jig go to the bottom, take up the slack, and start your jig the last two feet. Most of your strikes will come on the fall, so be ready. If the wind is calm, your drift will be perfect. If the wind picks up out of the north, you will have to back-troll.

Remember: at the beginning of this article, I talked about catching Mr. Big-eye; try and release Mrs. Big-eye so that she can continue her spawn!

That's all for now. See you next issue and, in the meantime, good fishing. □

Eagle Tennis Players Bring Talent, Experience to '92 Team

For some people, the spring season is heralded not by budding leaves, nesting birds, or (until this year) Ernie Harwell's broadcast of the Tigers' season opener, but by two little words: "Tennis anyone?"

If you're one of those people, you're sure to enjoy this year's Romulus High School tennis team. Featuring a combination of seasoned talent and enthusiastic newcomers, the Eagles show a promise that's as fresh as spring itself.

Johnnie Buckley (junior, 5'9", 145 lbs.)

Buckley, who played #1 singles all last year, was the 1991 team's Most Valuable Player as a sophomore. His quick reflexes allow him to practically manufacture shots, and he uses his speed to cover the court and return shots that others just can't reach. Buckley is expected to develop greater power on his shots this year, and hopes to use this power to achieve "big wins" like those he had against Adrian and Ypsilanti last season. Much of Buckley's ability may well be "natural," as both his sister Keilani (who won the Most Improved Player award on the girls' team last fall) and his father are also talented tennis players.

Jon Devereaux (junior, 6'0", 195 lbs.)

Jon Devereaux, who split time between #2 singles and #1 doubles last year, is a perfect example of the well-rounded student-athlete: besides excelling in the sports of tennis and soccer, he set a School record with a 45-yard field goal as a kicker for the football team last fall – and, as a member of the National Honor Society, he maintains a 3.8 grade-point average. Devereaux puts more English on the ball than any other Romulus player. He likes to serve and volley, and has a great touch at the net. His stepbrother, Anthony Quimby, should help the team as a first-year player.

Brian Molenda (junior, 6'0", 175 lbs.)

With his 4.0 grade-point average, membership in the National Honor Society, and position on the varsity basketball team, Brian Molenda is also a fine example of the student-athlete. Molenda – who was mainly a doubles player as a freshman – played #3 and #4 singles and teamed with Jennifer Daniel at #1 doubles as a sophomore. A consolation winner in the News-Herald Invitational at #4 singles, he has a special talent for returning shots while waiting for his opponent to make mistakes. Molenda has a consistent baseline stroke, but needs to work on his shot placement. His sister Susan played #3 doubles last year.

Lajuan McCain (senior, 5'7", 185 lbs.)

An aggressive player who likes to come to the net, McCain played most of the year at #2 doubles with Scott Updike (graduated) last year. He made the most of his chance at #4 singles when moved up against Monroe Jefferson late in the season. McCain has the best stroke technique on the squad, but needs to develop consistency to hold on to the singles spot. He's the cousin of Johnnie Buckley, and another cousin, Jamal McCain, hopes to help the team in doubles.

Keith Parks (sophomore, 5'8", 145 lbs.)

Keith Parks, who played #3 doubles with partner Susan Molenda last year, will challenge for a singles spot but probably play #1 doubles. An aggressive net player, he earned fine victories against Belleville and New Boston Huron last year. Parks has a powerful forehand, but needs to develop a backhand to go along with it. Another good student-athlete, he was the leading scorer on the JV basketball team, has a 3.85 GPA, and is a member of the National Honor Society.

New Kids on the Block

Also attempting to make an impact on this year's team will be the following newcomers: Anthony Quimby (senior), Genesis Barnes (senior), Jamal McCain (freshman), Michael Bell (freshman), and Robb Thompson (junior). □

Teen Talk: Health

What About Your Parenting Style?

By Diane Vidovic, MSW, Mental Health Counselor, Romulus Adolescent Health Center

As children reach adolescence, parents often express a fear and trembling about how they themselves will survive their teen's years from age 13 through 18. Most adolescents ride a roller coaster of moods and usually take parents along for the ride. In an attempt to define her own values, a normal teen begins to question her parents' values and rules, testing what she has, in the past, accepted as truth. This questioning may take the form of an argument, or may mean that your teen will experiment with new behaviors. It can wreak havoc in a family that previously had a relatively peaceful household. Preparing children for the transition into adulthood with positive messages during preadolescence makes for a healthier, happier adult. Still, it is difficult for parents to maintain a positive attitude during the turbulent teen years.

It helps for parents to recognize their parenting style. Do you recognize these replies?

"Why? Because I said so!"

"You're just a kid; what do you know?"

"As long as you're living under my roof, you'll do as I say!"

These statements indicate the use of an authoritarian approach. An authoritarian usually leaves no room for discussion or consideration of the teenager's feelings. These statements shut teens down and leave them frustrated – and, therefore, sometimes rebellious. An authoritarian approach chips away at the teen's self-esteem and promotes the feeling that the teen is incapable of decision-making or responsible behavior. He feels powerless.

As the teen becomes more assertive in a quest for power, parents may begin to feel powerless. Many view their child as uncontrollable. A common tendency is for parents to take a more permissive approach. Have you ever said, "She's a teenager now, you know, and I can't tell her what to do," or "I can't wait till he's old enough to be on his own; I can't do anything with him"? These statements, in effect, tell our kids that teen years are something to be dreaded; that teenagers are not likable. Permissive parents may let their child do whatever he wants to do. Permissive parents tend to think that their child no longer needs and will not accept direction. This is a common misconception.

You can help your child through the turbulence. Adopt a new, "democratic" approach. Engage in a true discussion. Learn how to compromise by letting your child voice her opinion about problems. Ask your child what he thinks the consequences of certain behaviors will be. Don't just tell him what you think they are. Help your teen to see that she is in charge of her own behavior by allowing her to experience the consequences of that behavior.

Your teen needs you to set limits. Agree on a few basic house rules and establish the consequences of breaking those rules. Then enforce the rules by making sure that your teen experiences the logical consequences. Enforcing logical consequences takes time and energy, but your reward will be a responsible, more pleasant, less angry young-adult.

Your teen also needs you to listen. Providing a sounding board for your teen is easier than it sounds and harder than you may think. It requires your silence most of the time. It requires that you put away your anecdotes, your experiences, and your advice, and simply listen. Repeat to your child what you thought you heard him say; if he says that you heard wrong, acknowledge it. Don't try to tell your child how she should feel. Rather, ask her how she feels about a friend, an event, etc. Never mock what you hear. Your commitment to nonjudgmental listening and a more democratic approach will insure that you know your son or daughter better, and will make for a smoother transition into adulthood – and, thus, a happier family.

City Seeks Donations for the Annual Independence Day Fireworks Display

The City of Romulus is again seeking financial support from our local businesses for the annual July 4th fireworks display. A donation of $35 will earn each contributor a framed certificate, which can be proudly displayed as a demonstration of community support.

Checks should be made payable to the Romulus Parks and Recreation Department, and mailed to 36515 Bibbins Street, Romulus, MI 48174. Or, if it is more convenient, donors can contact Recreation Director, Dwayne Martin, to have their contribution picked up.

Donations must be received by May 1, 1992, in order to allow time to find the best fireworks available.

Please show that you are a true friend of Romulus by making your donation today.

Kiwanis Annual Pancake Festival

The annual Kiwanis Pancake Festival will be held on Saturday, April 11, at the Romulus Progressive Hall (11580 Ozga Road, Five Points) from 7 a.m. until 2 p.m. Adding to the event's attraction will be an arts and crafts show in the hall from 7 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Tickets are $3.50 per adult ($3 per senior citizen). Since the Kiwanis is a service club, 100% of the monies raised by the breakfast are returned to the community through the club's projects. Money is not used for administrative costs, since the members donate their time and efforts to these worthy causes. Some of the current projects in which the Kiwanis is involved include a dental program for indigent children, sponsoring students to Wolverine Boys' State and Girls' State, sponsoring a student for the World Affairs Seminar, co-sponsoring the Romulus High School "student of the month" program, and delivering surplus food to various groups in the area.
